Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs)

Please find below for our most Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) when inviting authors to contribute a chapter to one of our publications. However, if your question remains unanswered, please contact a member of the BDS editorial team at editorial@bdspublishing.com

Q. Is there a charge to publish your chapter?

A. No. We do not charge authors to publish with us.

Q. Can I make my chapter Open Access (OA)?

A. Yes. We offer authors the option to publish their chapter as Open Access (OA) under a Creative Commons licence. For more information see our OA guidelines and applicable fees.

Q. Can I include co-authors in the writing process?

A. Yes. We encourage the involvement of co-authors.

Q. How long do I have to write the chapter?

A. We would like to receive first draft submissions within 5 months of accepting the invitation but can be flexible about delivery dates to suit your other commitments.

Q. How long should the chapter be?

A. We suggest a target length for chapters of between 5000 and 9000 words of text, excluding figures, tables and references.

Q. Will I receive a copy of the final publication?

A. Yes. Lead authors will receive a copy of the final published book in print or eBook format, as preferred, plus a copy of the chapter PDF they have contributed to. Co-authors will receive a PDF copy of the chapter they have contributed to.

Q. Will the chapter be published independently of the book?

A. Yes. Our chapters are designed to stand on their own as pieces of content therefore will be available individually from our website and as part of our chapter database solution.

Q. Will my chapter be indexed on Google Scholar and other platforms?

A. Yes. Together with our eBook partner Taylor & Francis, books and chapters are indexed on:

Google Scholar | CABI Abstracts | Web of Science | AGRIS | IFIS
